Two British aircraft failed to return from today's attack by naval planes.

PITTMAN SEES CHALLENGE TO U.S. POSITION

Senator Says Aggression
In West Hemisphere
Must Be Blocked

By HOBART C. MONTEE
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
WASHINGTON, July 6.—Chairman Key Pittman of the Senate foreign relations committee said today that Germany's rejection of this country's warning that it would not tolerate the transfer of western hemisphere territory from one European country to another, established a foundation for future violations of the Monroe doctrine.

Pittman and other congressional leaders, including Chairman S. B. Hiram of the house foreign affairs committee, took sharp issue with what they termed a German violation of the Monroe doctrine by interfering in European matters.

Sen. William H. King, D. Utah, charged that Germany already is seeking to "influence, or control" South American governments.

RELATIONS STRAINED
A double-barreled rebuke directed at Germany by Secretary of States Cordell Hull appeared to have imposed on U.S.-German relations an even greater burden. Many observers believed that any further strain might well result in their severance.

Hull's rebuke was contained in his sharply-worded rejection of Germany's contention that enforcement of the Monroe doctrine is "untenable," and in a state department announcement that foreign diplomats in the United States must not engage in "public

TURKEY DENIES ALLIED INVASION RUSSIA PLANNED

By HUGO SPECK
British United Press Exclusive Cable
To The Edmonton Bulletin
ISTANBUL, July 6.—Official circles today denied a German accusation that Britain and France four months ago planned an invasion of Russia through and with the aid of Turkey.

The German accusations were based on documents the Germans allegedly discovered in France. Official circles said one would have to consider the latest German "discovery" in the light of the "discovery" of documents after the invasion of Poland and Norway, which were known to be complete fabrications.

MEXICO TAKING

LONDON, July 6.—The British and French have reached an agreement under which French naval units now in Alexandria harbor will be immobilized and remain indefinitely in the British-controlled Egyptian port, it was learned today.

Earlier the Daily Mail, in an undated dispatch, said that the British at Alexandria had given the French the choice of scuttling their ships, co-operating with the British fleet or submitting to voluntary internment.

Meanwhile, the Daily Mail said, British and French sailors at Alexandria were enjoying friendly co-operation.

By Canadian Press
LONDON, July 6.—British warships pressed their search today for the last fugitive units of the French navy while the government began efforts to steer French merchant ships into British ports.

GERMAN CHIEF WARNS DUTCH BE PUNISHED

Military Commander
Threatens Action For Information Leak

AMSTERDAM, July 6.—The German military commander in Holland, Gen. Friedrich Christiansen, issued a sharp communication today accusing the Netherlands army and population of an "unloyal attitude" toward the German occupation.

He claimed the character of British bombing attacks proved that Britain was obtaining information from Holland. Christiansen reminded the people that their military leader, Gen. Henri Winkelman, has been removed to Germany as a prisoner of war because he failed to prevent "this attitude."

In connection with his charge that the Royal Air Force had been aided by information from Holland, Christiansen said that all actions would be investigated and that the guilty persons would be punished according to German law. Such actions would be considered high treason, punishable by death.

Act Reinstatement
WINNIPEG, July 6.—Premier John Bracken announced today he had summoned leaders of three opposition groups in the legislature to accompany him to Ottawa, where he will press for reinstatement of the Farmers' Creditors' Arrangement Act in Manitoba.

CHURCHILL IS IMPRESSED BY CANUCK ARMY

Prime Minister, War Secretary
Eden Visit
Division

By EDWIN JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 6.—Prime Minister Churchill, accompanied by War Secretary Anthony Eden, General Sir Edmund Ironside and a number of ranking British staff officers, paid a surprise visit to the Canadian sector of the home front today to see for himself the result of the mobile experiments and practical defensive operations being carried out by Maj.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton's Canadian 1st Division.

It was the prime minister's first visit to the Canadian troops and so impressed was he with the Canadian 1st Division.

Refugee Nephew Says Uncle Anthony Eden Very Popular Indeed

QUEBEC, July 6.—The third group of British evacuees to arrive here this week — including youthful relatives of Viscount Simon and Anthony Eden — reached Quebec today on their way to new temporary homes far from the Nazi bombers.

Fourteen-year-old John Eden and his three sisters, Ann, 16, Rose, 13, and Amelia, 7 — nephew and nieces of the popular secretary for war — told reporters they and their three young cousins will attend a school to be established at Vernon, B.C., by their mother.

Simon's grandchildren, Angela Manning, 14, Margaret Beckford Smith, 14, and Carol Beckford Smith, 13, all grandchildren of the British Lord Chancellor, said their grandfather "came down to see us off" at the start of their trip to Canada.

Angela will stay with relatives at Lancaster, Pa., while the other two girls will visit relatives in Toronto. Young Eden said he was "not very sorry to leave England, because this is quite an adventure, you know."

With 276 youngsters unaccompanied — one of them was three-year-old Martin Rosenblatt who is going to Montreal — a stewardess said amusingly that the trip has been "the most dreadful" in her experience. She said five extra stewardesses had made the trip to help care for the children traveling alone and for others who came as young as four months.

Most of the children had never been in Canada before and among

British Action Against French Gives America Time To Prepare Her Defence, U.S. Admiral Says

By REAR ADMIRAL YATES
Copyright, 1940, by The British United Press Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin
NEW YORK, July 6.—The drastic British action against the French fleet means that the American fleet can depend on the British navy as a bulwark of defence in the Atlantic. It means that the Americans have a little more time to prepare their defenses.

The French fleet combined with the Italian would have given the axis a navy almost equal to the British navy, one capable of great destruction.

CAN OPERATE SHIPS
The Germans would have found it easy to operate the French fleet. The British no longer have access to French munitions plants, but they should be able to operate the French ships. For instance, they will find torpedo boats in the French submarine base at Brest. More important — Britain's action confirms the prediction I made as long as three weeks ago. In my opinion, no American naval office was surprised at what happened at Oran or Alexandria.

Britain Places Big War Orders In Canada, U.S.

Orders Amount To Many Millions Of Pounds
And Are By Far The Largest Ever
Sent To This Continent

LONDON, July 6.—An official announcement said today that orders for war materials totalling many millions of pounds sterling have just been placed by Great Britain with the Canadian and United States governments.

The announcement by the ministry of supply said:
"Big new orders for war materials have just been placed with the United States and Canadian governments. The orders amount to many millions of pounds and are by far the largest ever sent to America and Canada by the ministry."

"They are for a wide variety of materials."
"The orders for Canada have been placed direct with the Canadian government. The United States orders will be dealt with by the British purchasing mission in that country."

A spokesman for the British purchasing commission in New York said last night the British government had placed orders for $100,000,000 of war materials in the United States in the last week.

Important Orders Placed In Canada

OTTAWA, July 6.—The British government is placing further large orders for the manufacture of munitions in Canada, it was announced simultaneously today by Munitions Minister Howie and by the ministry of supply in London.

The type of orders to be placed in Canada, or the quantities to be purchased and their cost were not indicated in Mr. Howie's brief announcement. It was understood, however, the announcement covered important orders and developments of a substantial nature.

The orders, which are to be placed immediately, will expand materially the already extensive British munition program in Canada. To date, Great Britain has assumed the capital cost of production on behalf of some 35 Canadian companies.

The program presently under way involves commitments in excess of $50,000,000 and includes several expensive plants together with many plants producing ammunition and a variety of weapons.

R. A. F. AGAIN RAIDS GERMAN NAVAL BASES

LONDON, July 6.—The air ministry announced tonight that Royal Air Force bombers again raided the naval bases of Kiel and Wilhelmshaven last night.

Docks at Cuxhaven and Hamburg were also attacked and several fires were started, and a railway junction at Cologne was bombed.

The ministry's statement: "Yesterday bombers of the R.A.F. made daylight attacks on a German aircraft factory at Dirschhausen and Dutch airbases of Weesbaden and Flushing. Two of our aircraft are missing."

Last night our bombers again attacked naval bases of Kiel and Wilhelmshaven. Many bombs were dropped on docks, a construction basin at Kiel and naval storehouses at Wilhelmshaven.

"Docks at Cuxhaven and Hamburg were also attacked and several fires started. At Cologne a railway junction was bombed."

"Dutch airbases at Schiphol and Texel were also attacked."

"One of our aircraft is missing."

TOKYO, July 6.—Tomorrow, on the anniversary of the Chinese hostilities, a new law goes into effect prohibiting the manufacture of articles classed as luxuries.

Sales of these luxuries will be permitted to Oct. 7, to mitigate the blow to merchants.

The newspaper Asahi said the new law was designed to prevent production of essential war goods, control prices, prevent inflation and "renew the people's livelihood in war time."

Hugh D. Scully Chairman Of War Industries Board

OTTAWA, July 6.—Progress in organizing the industrial resources of the nation to more effective war effort was reported today with the announcement of the appointment of Hugh D. Scully as chairman of the war industries control board.

Mr. Scully is head of the steel section of the board. Other control boards are H. R. McMillan, timber; C. G. Bateman, mines and metals; and G. R. Cottrill, oil.

Announcing the appointment of Mr. Scully, the minister of the national revenue department, to the chair following the first meeting of the board, Mr. Howe said:

CO-ORDINATE WORK
"The function of the new board is to co-ordinate the work of the controllers who are charged with the government with the utilization of individual industries to war needs."

A. W. Merriman of the national revenue department has been appointed secretary to the board.

The department has organized a supply chain in the matter of producing commodities essential to the prosecution of the war, officials said.

Controllers have been appointed to basic industries and the board is now co-ordinating their efforts.

Several companies owned by the government have been created. The department has organized an economic section to deal with the wider aspects of the problem of supply.

TO CO-OPERATE
The works of the war industries control board, having wide powers extending to controlling not only the co-ordination of the efforts of individual controllers but also the operation of the Foreign Exchange Control Board and other governmental agencies.

Companies set up by the government such as the Citadel Manufacturing Company, engaged in finding machine tools are charged with the work of maintaining stocks of important or essential materials. Another company recently formed in the Federal Reserve Bank, which is developing and expediting the airplane construction program.

Hungary Asks Rumania Cede Border Towns

By HELEN T. GORRELL, British United Press, Ottawa Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

BUDAPEST, Hungary, July 6.—It is rumored in diplomatic circles that Hungary has demanded that Rumania cede her two border towns as a prelude to negotiations over Hungary's claims on Rumanian Transylvania. The towns presumably would be Sighet and Salutaria. It is recalled that before Hungary demanded and occupied the lower part of Czechoslovakia's province of Slovakia, she demanded two towns as a "token payment."

By Associated Press

BUDAPEST, July 6.—Responsible quarters intimated today that the Hungarian-Rumanian dispute over Transylvania may be discussed by Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano in his visit to Berlin.

These quarters said that an offer by Yugoslavia to mediate in the dispute was declined because Hungary preferred the office of an ambassador.

The Italian foreign minister will arrive in Berlin tomorrow, though here it is said that he will deal with Rumania and also with the future relationship of the axis powers to Soviet Russia.

Britain Need Not Fear Break With Petain Government

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 6.—A formal break in the relations between the Petain government of France and Britain would be an anti-climax gesture which London might well ignore or attribute to orders of France's master, Hitler.

LAWYERS PREVENT U. K. CHILDREN ENTERING U. S.

Many Of Evacuees Likely To Be Allowed Enter As Visitors

NEW YORK, July 6.—Present American immigration laws would prevent thousands of poorer refugee European children from landing in United States ports, a representative of the British Children's Overseas Reception Board said yesterday.

More fortunate, said J. Roland Robinson, member of parliament and board representative, would be those children whose parents can afford to pay the cost of their trans-Atlantic steamship fares.

AWAIT QUOTA LAWS

Immigration regulations now forbidding the landing in U. S. ports of persons whose passage has been paid by a foreign government, and Robinson explained those regulations which the British government would be first taken to Canada, there to await entrance under the British quota of 6,500 a month into United States.

Immigration authorities said they believed many of the children would be permitted to enter as non-quota temporary visitors, providing American sponsors proved their financial responsibility to maintain the children. Robinson estimated that of the 50,000 refugee children he expects to come to United States by fall, 10 per cent could be from working-class families.

Every ship scheduled to leave Britain between now and the end of August, he said, has been requisitioned to transport child refugees from Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

"MUST BE DONE NOW"

The first ship, he added, is scheduled to sail from England with 2,000 children, "sometime next week."

More than 15,000 requests already have come from American parents for temporary adoption of the youngsters, he disclosed.

Evacuation of children "can be done, and on a great scale," the New York Herald Tribune said as it told Americans.

"But it must be done now, while there is time."

In a leading editorial, the newspaper urged that U. S. neutrality laws be modified to permit the landing of American vessels to assist in the evacuation, and said that existing immigration laws should be amended to facilitate the movement.

Justice Murphy Urges Assistance

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Supreme Court Justice Charles E. Hughes said last night the United States would be "at its noblest and best" in caring for refugee children from Britain.

Speaking on a broadcast program in behalf of the U. S. committee for the care of European children, Justice Murphy said that "in a few days, the bombers will be coming not by one and two, or five and ten, but probably by twenties and hundreds" to England. In the towns to be bombed, he said, are "little children, without knowledge of the causes of this war, or responsibility for it."

Five Canadians Are Listed Among R.A.F. Casualties

LONDON, July 6.—Five Canadians were named yesterday in the air ministry's 37th casualty list of the war. Three were missing, one wounded and one a prisoner of war.

The Canadians are: P. O. M. A. Butler, Newcastle, Ont.; P. O. J. Plant, Winnipeg; F. G. E. Walker, Glenora, Alta.; missing.

L. A. C. L. E. Farrow, Stanstead, Que., wounded, on active service. Capt. G. H. Dixon, born Winnipeg, later lived with his father at Wembley, England, previously reported killed, now reported prisoner.

U. S. Increases Police Guard At Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The police guard about the United States Capitol was increased yesterday and every night or other visitor to the building was required to state its business. One official said the stricter control was put into effect because of the bombing of the British Pavilion at the New York World's Fair Thursday.

VICHY, France, July 6.—Premier Pierre Laval told a chamber of deputies meeting Thursday night that a strict limiting of the right of the cabinet to return to the cabinet is one of the principal reforms planned in a French constitution.

Newest Fighting Pilots Of R.C.A.F. Get Wings

The latest class of Pilot Officers who received their Pilot's Air Badge at a "Wings Presentation" ceremony at Camp Borden are shown, above. These young fliers have successfully completed the intermediate stage of their flying training and are now entitled to wear the coveted wings of a full-fledged pilot above the upper left-breast pocket of their tunic. Another six weeks of flying training and two weeks at a bombing and gunnery school are necessary before their course of instruction is complete.

N.Y. POLICE PURSUE HUNT FOR BOMBER

Detectives Seeking to Connect Bombing With Dynamite Theft

NEW YORK, July 6.—Tired detectives, in relentless mood, last night sought to connect the theft of 20 sticks of dynamite with a bomb which blasted two of their comrades to death Thursday soon after it had been hustled from its hiding place in the New York World's Fair British Pavilion.

The dynamite was stolen May 29 at gun's point from a magazine of the British pavilion for a synagogical excavation.

Investigators said the weight and size of the dynamite stick approximated the weight—20 pounds—of the bomb explosive.

GERMAN ARRESTED

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine described the bomb as a "dynamite shrapnel" type powerful enough to have blown a hole in a wall of the British pavilion.

Detectives yesterday arrested Caesar Kroeger, 38, whom they described as a former member of the German-American Bund.

They said they discovered in Kroeger's apartment two German-made pistols, one loaded. On the wall of the apartment was a huge map of the world, which bore chalk and pin marks at intervals. The pistols were found in a drawer, under a copy of Adolf Hitler's "Mein Kampf."

Pin hole perforations surrounded principal United States cities on the map, said the detectives, who quoted Kroeger as explaining the marks indicated communities in which Communists were located.

REWARD OFFERED

Kroeger was booked on charges of violating the Sullivan law. Associates of the two slain detectives—Joseph J. Lynch, 33, and Ferdinand A. Seba, 35—offered a $1,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the deaths.

The truck containing the boxes was struck by a bomb and two drivers were killed, but the valuables were not damaged.

Canadians Cannot Get Funds For Pleasure Trips Into United States

OTTAWA, July 6.—Canadians can no longer get funds from their banks for pleasure trips to the United States and the foreign exchange control board has advised banks that all applications for funds for foreign travel, except for purposes of business, education, health or in case of emergency, must be referred to the board.

Authorities took care last night to explain that there is no intention of interfering with legitimate business with the export of funds for the education of minor children or for the assistance of relatives if necessary, nor other serious matters. But if some one wants to go to Chicago to dance or to Palm Beach to swim, he cannot buy United States dollars at the fixed rate of 11 per cent, nor obtain by his bank an amount for his purpose.

MUCH SPENT ON FUN
Statisticians estimate Canadians visiting the United States spend annually in that country something slightly over $100,000,000. There is no breakdown of this figure showing how much is spent by those on business trips, for doctor bills and for other purposes, and how much for pleasure.

Operations of the board, all of which are based upon policy formulated by the department of finance, have included pegging the exchange rate at 10 per cent and regulating the amount of export of dollars from Canada for certain purposes.

Further illustrating the effect of the control now adopted by the board it was pointed out that up to the establishment of the new rule anyone could buy United States dollars at his bank up to the amount of $1,000 a time, an expansion, simply by paying the official exchange of $110. Now that will be impossible.

There will be two branches of army training in the universities: The Canadian officers' training courses.

2.—A new organization in which the great majority of students will be trained. This organization will deal with training schedules after the manner of training privates in the army.

The C.O.T.C. has been organized in most universities for many years and during the past winter provided intensive instruction for many undergraduates who now are qualified officers and are eligible, after volunteering, to be called up to serve with the Canadian Active Service Force.

In past years, hundreds of others have been trained in the C.O.T.C. and hold certificates indicating eligibility for service as officers.

SELECT OFFICERS
With the C.O.T.C. and the new organization which will be set up, every student will be trained either as a volunteer recruit or as a permanent active militia or as a draftsman into the same organization.

In order to accommodate them officials of the national defence department are arranging for long-term camp accommodation for clothing manufacturers are working their factories overtime producing uniforms. The training camp, now being enlarged and increased in numbers will be filled with men during the summer months.

PREFERENCE ORDER
Order of preference for camp training will be first the Canadian Active Service Force, second the militia with its present volunteer personnel and such additional men as may be recruited from the national resources mobilization law.

Many of the men in the militia of common sense yesterday denied a newspaper report to the effect the first call for men would be made next week. He said the call would be made when the defence department is ready to make it.

It is understood no exemption from military service will be granted within the classes called "Exempted" and "Exempted from service" which is in training for home defence and is part time.

Details may be gleaned from camp training during the evenings throughout the year as militia men in war and peace time. They will be liable to be called into active service in Canada in case of need but not to service overseas except when they volunteer for such service.

MAY EXCUSE SOME
In cases where men engaged in vital war work fall within the classes called up for training individuals may be excused from camp training but required to take the part-time training throughout the year. In some cases, men on camp training of key workers may be postponed to a time when they can be called up.

The general policy being framed appears to be to give every able-bodied man up to the age of 45 a measure of military training and to do it as quickly as possible.

The men called up under the compulsory scheme will have the same status and duties as members of the non-permanent militia. When and as additional men are required for the full-time soldier, the C.A.S.F., the Royal Canadian Air Force or the Royal Canadian Navy, they will be selected from among the men in training, volunteers or draftees who offer their services.

WORKING ON DETAILS
Details may be gleaned from mobilization are still being worked out by the department. Here it is said the first call may go out in a class of men between the ages of 17 and 27 sometime in August, depending on whether the militia units and their present personnel have completed

ARMY TRAINING IS COMPULSORY FOR STUDENTS

Universities Co-Operate Under Government's Mobilization Act

OTTAWA, July 6.—Every male student in Canadian universities will take compulsory military training during the next college year as the universities co-operate with the government in applying the Mobilization Act to the universities.

This was decided yesterday at a conference of university heads and leading officials of the national defence department.

Following the day-long meeting, Dr. H. J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto, said all non-undergraduates would receive compulsory military instruction, starting next September, and open around the end of September.

Dominion Being Cast In Dominant Role For Armament Production

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 6.—Canada is being cast in a minor role of the world-wide armaments expansion being organized by the British ministry of supply in co-operation with the Canadian department of munitions. It was learned here.

As part of the new production policy, the British government has increased its orders for a wide range of munitions, ranging from tanks and bombers down to ammunition clips, being placed in the United States, Canada and other Dominions.

THREE REASONS
There are three reasons for this new expansion in which Canada is expected to take a leading part:

1.—Munitions are urgently needed to replace the munitions of the British Expeditionary Force was evacuated and to equip the new army defending this country.

2.—Air raids having started on a small scale on this country, the British government as a measure of insurance has laid down the policy that munitions must be produced in the United States, Canada and other countries beyond the range of the German air force to guarantee an uninterrupted flow.

3.—The old leisurely policy which was in operation for the first nine months of hostilities, the theory that this was to be a three-year war and that munitions should be planned on that scale, has been discarded and replaced by policy of speed and urgency.

DRAMATIC INCREASES
As far as Britain is concerned, there have been dramatic increases in the production of munitions in recent weeks but whether they can be maintained in the face of the air raids is a matter of conjecture.

To guard against interruptions and dislocations, new factories are being planned overseas and big orders given so that mass production can be introduced.

The industrial forces of Canada and the United States will be a big factor in this desperate program, based in Canada in the immediate future and the United States later after they have been sent to war speed. It is the new policy of the ministry to supply and increase the size of individual orders so that mass production methods can be used.

Canadian Industry Geared For Needs
OTTAWA, July 6.—Canadian industry is being geared up to meet great Britain's needs. Munitions Minister Howie said in an interview Thursday, commenting on a report from London that the Dominion was to fill a major role in a new world-wide armaments expansion being organized by the British government.

The minister intimated the Canadian government was up to meet the British in this connection and added "I think Canada will give a good account of herself."

Big developments are underway in regard to greatly increased production of chemicals, but this country also would be making almost every kind of implement of war and Canadian industry is being speedily expanded to meet the situation.

Carrying On Well

During the first half of the present
year Edmonton taxpayers set up a new
all-time record. They paid more tax money into the city treasury than in the
corresponding period of any former year.
This is evidence that business has been better and employment on a more satisfactory basis than for many years; that in fact business has been good, and unemployment a much diminished handicap.

The showing reflects, too, an absence
of "jitters" on the part of the people of the community, since they are giving attention to the matter of keeping their property free of encumbrance and using their earnings wisely, despite the unfavorable trend of the war. People shuddering in fear that civilization would go to wreck
and the country be destroyed or driven in-
to bankruptcy would not have much heart
for the paying of taxes.

The practical and very important result is that the finances of the city are being kept in order, the services are being carried on as usual, and a fair amount of
improvement is being done without creating more debt. The "pay as you go" principle is being maintained and the future is
not being cluttered up with postponed obligations.

Holidays At Home

If a Canadian wishes in future to visit
the United States or some other outside
country he will first have to consult the Exchange Board to obtain the foreign currency he requires. Hitherto it has been only a matter of going to a bank and
buying exchange, the bank having authority to accommodate him up to $1,000.
Hereafter his application will have to be forwarded to the Board, with quite strong probability that it will not be granted if
the projected trip is for sight-seeing purposes only.

The reason of course is that the Government needs all the United States funds
it can get, with which to pay for airplanes
and other war supplies. Apparently the need is greater than it has been, since this added restriction is being imposed on the private use of the amount of foreign exchange available in the country.

To get expense money for a holiday-
trip to the United States costs a premium
of eleven per cent. Evidently that tax was not sufficient to prevent considerable
numbers of Canadians ignoring the advice
to "see Canada first"; enough of them in
fact that their aggregate expenditures abroad
threatened to interfere with the purchase of war equipment. Now the Board may tell them to do their scenery-gazing at home, whether they want to or not.

Forming A Trade Front

A movement is afoot at Washington
to bring the countries in the western hemisphere into an agreement to do their exporting through a single agency. The object is to prevent some of the smaller
countries being put under the economic pressure Germany has used to force small states in Europe into its "orbit". The essence of this policy is that a country which sells to Germany must buy from Germany; it cannot obtain foreign exchange
in payment and buy where it pleases. It must take German goods whether it wants
them or not.

The news coming from South America
shows that several of the countries there have been put under this pressure with
more or less success; and that the trading
relations have been made channels
through which Nazi agents and plotters
and propaganda have been widely introduced. The idea at Washington is to free
these states from Nazi influence, by "fun-
neling" export trade under conditions
which will put an end to commercial-political aggression.

Though it is not a member of the Pan-American union, Canada is not to be barred from joining this commercial lineup against the Reichsmark offensive. If it does join this will be rather to help a good cause along than because the Dominion
is or has been in any danger of being drawn or coerced into the Fuehrer's trade
trap.

"Orders" From A Prisoner

Marshal Petain is being spared no humiliation at the hands of his Nazi jailers.
In his name orders have been issued to French naval commanders in British and
other foreign ports to fight their way out
and return to French occupied ports, and
to stop British merchant vessels they may encounter on the high seas and bring these also into the ports; where warships and
merchant ships alike would be under German and Italian control.

It is permissible to think the Marshal
signed these orders with his tongue in his
cheek, hoping the naval commanders
would understand that he signed them
only under duress—and accordingly ignore them. That much is due to the man who defended Verdun so valiantly in the former war. Petain is no more a free man than if he were in a German internment camp. The French people are at the mercy of an enemy who does not know the meaning of the word. He must do what he is told—"or else."

Petaim does not speak for France. He dare not. The men, women and children of France are hostages in the hands of
men under whose orders airplanes "roared
along the highways in northern France
with machine-guns wide open" a few weeks ago, in a civilian massacre the like
of which has not been seen outside China
and Spain. Petain must do the bidding of his captors or the hostages will suffer.

French naval commanders who obey
these orders—if not traitors—must be singularly lacking in the perception for which their race is noted. They should sense the fact that Petain is a prisoner,
and must relay whatever orders Berlin
issues, or subject the French people to Nazi vengeance.

A committee of the House of Commons
was set up to tone down some of the Defence of Canada regulations, in response
to complaints from many quarters that these were unnecessarily severe. Instead the committee is plugging loopholes in the regulations and otherwise increasing the stringency of the restrictions. This in consequence of the further disclosures of
"fifth column" activities on both sides of the Atlantic. Law-abiding residents of Canada who are of enemy race or nationality
will have to blame Hitler and Mussolini if their lot is made harder, instead of easier as was intended.

On The Record

SUFFER LITTLE CHILDREN AND FORBID NOT

PHILADELPHIA.—In this heartbreaking
world of Americans are wondering what
they can do to uphold the banner of freedom,
democracy and humanity. These people include
those who think we should give more material
aid to Great Britain, whether for ideological reasons, humanitarian reasons or plain reasons of self-interest.
But they also include millions
who want us to have no part of the war going on in Europe.

D. Thompson

It is very dangerous for the
human soul to have a sympathy
that does not express itself in action. We have to express in the behavior the things we believe;
otherwise, by and by we cease
to believe them. To observe
human suffering and do nothing about it results
eventually in a feeling of humanly callousness. And if the people of this country become humanly
callous, by and by that callousness will express
itself in all our relations toward one another;
and then we shall be in a very bad way.

Now, there is one thing we could do immediately, and if we did it with sufficient drama
and grandeur it would be by itself a comment on what is happening in Europe. In this world of loot-and-grab it is very necessary that a great
democracy like our own, that stands for human rights, if it stands for anything, that stands for
the superiority of men over machines, if it stands
for anything, should make a gesture that represents giving rather than taking. And we could make that gesture.

Mr. Gallup's last poll, which was published in the Wednesday newspaper, shows us what we can do. A survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion indicates that 5,000,000 American families might be disposed to take British and French refugees children into their homes and
care for them until the war—and the worst results of the war—is over.

Fifty-eight per cent of those polled thought
that we should let the children come in, and a quarter of those polled said they would be willing to take one or more of the children while 21
per cent more said that they would consider it.
That means that there are something like 5,000,
000 homes available in this country; even if you
cut that number radically, it still adds up to a great many homes.

There is every possible reason, including the
most hard-boiled ones, why we should do this.
This column has pointed out before, and does so
again, that there is an actual shortage of children in the United States at this moment. We are becoming an old people. Ask any eugenist, ask any one concerned with vital statistics, whether or not this is true, and he will support my statement. This means that if all of these children
never went back to Europe it would be an un-
mitigated godsend to the United States.

Now, what is holding this up? The first thing that is holding it up is the usual red tape.
Each of these children has to have a passport and an affidavit. This business of making out affidavits is difficult and complicated. After all, if a person is willing to take a child in his home,
that ought to constitute a good enough affidavit,
and it would not be the worst if it were. The sum of money posted as a blanket bond for these children would not be thrown back on the government.

Then, if we're using our intelligence instead
of our legs, we would have set up, in France
and Britain, and quickly—and by quickly I mean in a matter of days, not months—
medical boards which would give quick examinations to the children, to see that we get the best and not the worst. It is essential that we try to save the brightest and the healthiest.

The quota system doesn't need to bother us,
for the time being, because these children can
come in under student's visas, which are outside the quota. This is a form of victor-via. It doesn't let them in permanently, but we can deal with the rest of the problem later. In any case,
the country must revise the quota system of immigration and must make a humane system.
All that needs to be done is to make every public
school in this country an educational institution,
and call these children students. And I greatly hope that they will be students, to whom we can make the democratic ideal something real, in human terms.

The second thing that is holding it up is transportation, and there we run up against the neutrality law that says that we can't send our ships into the war zone. The theory behind that is that our ships, if they go into the war zone,
may be torpedoed and American lives lost, and
that that will drag us into war.

But if we take our merchant ships and all
the other merchant ships that we can lay our hands on.

THE MISUNDERSTOOD MAN

"Make up your mind to one thing," said the Old Man to the Youth: "You cannot escape being misunderstood. First motives will be attributed to your best actions; your noblest intentions will
be misconstrued; your real self will many times
be hidden from your closest friends."

"Accept this as part of life. You will watch
weaklings whimper and whine because nobody
understands them; and spend their days in futile
and fruitless efforts to set themselves right in the eyes of men. Avoid that state of mind as you would the pestilence."

"Two compensations you may have. One is that 'He that judgeth me is the Lord.' The Father who seeth in secret does not misunderstand you. Let His will be your standard."

"The other compensation is that Jesus lived
all His life with uncomprehending people. Nobody was ever more misunderstood than He.
Yet that fact did not make Him bitter or unloving."

We take refuge, O God, from life's misunder-
standings in Thy comprehension; and in the example of Christ, whose imitators we are. Amen.
Read Ephesians 1:25-32.

The Common Round

By J. BUTTERFIELD

The most abundant thing in the world is
water, although in its purer forms it is curiously
localized and in its larger masses is useful only
for transportation. There is, however, a geographical abundance of water that is seldom recognized. From the seven seas and from a million
lakes and rivers the good sun snatches
RAIN it up to form a cloud-cap about the world and the cloud-cap moves far
before it lets go the pure distillate to soften and fertilize the earth.

Thus it is not unusual for the wheat of the Canadian prairies to be swollen by the waters
of the Indian Ocean or the drops that are the children of the seas that wash the shores of Australia. The roses of Persia diffuse a perfume
that may come from the arctic circle and our famous apples draw their sweetness from the distant Caribbean while the sap that runs in the veins of our timber—because of its years of growth—has come from every corner of the globe.

Again, the water that flows from the hills of Germany to send the Rhine rolling in majesty to the sea may be British water and the Black Sea
may easily replenish the Thames. This is a thought for patriots.

This is the rain the one single force that is universal and international, at once kindly and indispensable, unassuming but all pervading, the great unifier of all things earthly.

One of the saddest stories appearing in the paper of late was the story from Dallas, Tex.,
about the man who accused another chap of kidnapping his wife and also of swindling. He told the Cadi that the man ran SWINDLING off with his wife to Oklahoma
and that was kidnapping and that was
when they wrote for $45 to come back with
he sent it and they didn't come—and that was swindling.

If people would only learn to use the language correctly this would be a simpler and a better world. That wasn't swindling—that was Christian charity.

The Iraq parliament is considering a bill to limit the prices of brides in order to encourage marriage among the young men who can not afford the high prices charged for these goods by their fathers, prices often ranging as high as $2,225. It sounds like a good idea, as far as one
can follow it, but to follow it properly BRIDES one would have to be very well
acquainted with the oriental mind.

For the incomprehensible part of the bill is that
it proposes to limit the price of first class
females to $150, "second class" to $75 and "third class" to $50.

The mystery for the western mind is how to distinguish between a woman's definition of sex
and these and to divide women into three classes and three only. Or perhaps there is a fourth that may be given away—or a fifth that will give itself away.

We have several classes of women among us
but we never know what they are worth until
we marry them and find out.

A lot of people do not read the notices of those who have left us, commonly called death
notices in the paper. I read them nearly every day and I should like to record a very gratifying
finding in so reading them. I have found that taken all round the people of Canada generally
live to a greater average age than
THE OLD

it is I do not attempt to explain, I only record the fact. It may be the climate, it may be the sense of freedom enjoyed among us
or it may be the good and kindly lives we lead.
It reads Rupert Brooke's poem of a war poet
—of which I do not carry the exact words, but
they go something like this:

"The women there do all they ought,
The men obey the rules of thought,
They worship love, they worship truth.
They laugh in life, they laugh in youth.
And when they get to feeling old
They up and shoot themselves, I'm told."

On This Date

By FRED WILLIAMS

The Biblical story of the rich man who was stricken while he was building him a house was a frequent topic of a Sunday school teacher in Montreal 60 years ago. He would take his class
from their downtown church up the slope of the mountain and at the head of Peel St. would point
to a pile of ruins and exclaim: "There is an example of the avaricious man stricken in the midst of his wealth—Simon McTavish. He was of course, quite wrong. McTavish, the great Sect, who founded the North West Company in opposition to the Hudson's Bay Company, was undoubtedly killed on this date (July 6 in 1804),
but it was an accident, at least so the coroner's jury declared, and, for good measure, to make things certain, a medical certificate asserted that Simon died from a cold 'contracted while supervising the erection of his new mansion'."

That same mansion, or rather the basement
of it, long had the reputation of being haunted.
We who were young in the 80's were told to give
the ruins a wide berth as we climbed Mount Royal on our Sunday hikes. One young friend, who afterwards became one of the most famous
sporting editors in America, laughed at the idea
of the "haunt" and volunteered to pass a night
there and report to us. But he failed to take into account a certain medical student of our crowd. This genius, who knew of the wager,
went up to the ruined mansion with some white
paint and phosphorescent fluid which he used freely on the walls. He borrowed a skeleton from the McGill medical school, made it phosphorescent and awaited results. The trick worked. The brave lad from Belfast was back at the boarding house within an hour. He swore that he had seen the ghost of McTavish digging in the ruins and all the time he remained in Montreal he could never be persuaded to go near
the place.

Pleasant to note that the good qualities of the Earl of Athlone, Canada's new Governor-General, include an excellent broadcasting voice.—

Scotland Is There Too
Editor, Bulletin: Why is it that we hear nothing but England in the news. We never hear anything of Scotland but we know that if we follow history that Scotland has always been with England and always will be. I would like to know why Scotland has not been
mentioned in these trying times?

Dizziness is like many other
symptoms in that it may be the sign
of only a passing disturbance or may signify the existence of some
more serious disorder.

As a symptom, it is capable of being produced by a variety of causes, some of which are trivial in nature, while others are more important.

Probably the two most ordinary
causes of dizziness are sluggishness
of the liver and stomach upsets.
The dizziness often accompanying
what is commonly called a "house" attack is very common, although
this kind of vertigo generally does
not remain for any length of time.
The patient has a poor appetite and
may notice that the head aches,
or that there is digestive unhappiness, or that he is vomiting or by a distaste for food. When he tries to move, objects near him
seem to be turning round, or as if
pear blurred, and when he stoops
over, he may notice that the dizziness
is much more noticeable when
he straightens up.

When the sensation of dizziness
appears while riding in an automobile or on a street car, it is possibly due to eye strain. This type of dizziness is called visual vertigo and is said to be on the increase, due to the extra demands
put upon the eye by modern conditions of living.

Ear conditions such as Meniere's Disease or otosclerosis, may also cause dizziness.

Dizziness as a symptom is often
seen in nervous patients, as well as those with anemia or low blood pressure. Some of the causes of high blood pressure and arterial
hardening likewise are troubled by general nervousness. They should
in some instances, the excessive
use of tobacco, alcohol and coffee
may bring on dizziness.

Some patients with a tendency
to develop attacks of Migraine headache report that dizziness may
mark the onset of the attacks.

Dizziness is very often present
during acute indigestion and the patient may say his head is swimming or that the room is whirling
around him.

Those troubled by persistent
dizziness would do well to present themselves for examination. A careful examination by your physician will prove the best means of uncovering the cause of dizziness
in your own case.

nosed and who know what is causing their dizziness, may be inter-

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. MCKENNEY, America's Card Authority

This is the fifth and last of a series of articles based on

Colfax's "Endplays."

Today's hand brings out a point
in the bidding well as in the play. The opening bidder is forced to pass.

by his partner with three hearts,
he will respond with three spades.
His partner jumps to four no trump
and South responds with five
spades, indicating that in his opinion the hand must be played in spades. Therefore North must show six spades rather than no
trump.

While the contract was only six spades, by clever handling of the trump, South was able to win the opening heart lead was won in dummy with the Jack, a spade
trick was taken, the small diamond
played to dummy's small diamond
finer was taken.

When West asked about it, he looked as if he declared would have to be content with six-odd, but of
trump.

A brightly dreamed young man
presented himself at a recruiting
office and expressed his wish to

The sergeant in charge asked
him the usual questions and entered the answers on his sheet.
"Occupation?" he inquired.
"I hardly know what to say. You see,
my governor died and left me a pot

run through the lot. That's why I'm here."

"I thought," replied the sergeant,
"broke over his face, and he entered
in the necessary column, 'Braz

PROVINCIAL BRIEFS

3,500 ATTEND SPORTS EVENT AT ALLIANCE

With a record-breaking attendance of over 3,500 sports fans the Alliance Athletic Association, in conjunction with the local Red Cross, sponsored the biggest and most successful Dominion Day sports ever held in Alliance. Favored by perfect weather conditions, a well-rounded-out program of events drew many visitors from far and near, some coming from Saskatchewan, Ontario and parts of the United States.

A major parade, headed by the Alliance 25-piece community band, commenced the day's activities. Included in the parade were many beautifully decorated floats, bicycles, tractors, machinery, cars, etc. The baseball and softball events were of first-water caliber and sustained keen interest from the first to last. The horse racing events were exceptionally good, and many of these events are now on their way to the Calgary Stampede.

A new wrinkle in sports events was a rubber-tired tractor race, as also was a large list of 25 merchants' special offering prices for oddities, such as the tallest man, lady with smallest waist measure, etc.

The machinery display, too, attracted considerable attention, particularly from farmers who had the opportunity to see, at first hand, the most modern developments available to reduce much of the hard work on the farm. Always a favorite with the younger population, the midway, merry-go-round, and other amusements drew their quota of enthusiasts.

The refreshment booths had their hands full and were kept on the go very minute to cater to the wants of the hungry and thirsty crowd.

As a grand finale, a monster fire in the 22½ ft. hall wound up the day's activities when dancing was enjoyed until a late hour of the evening, music being supplied by Erickson's orchestra.

When one stops to consider a moment, Alliance is a small town of some 300 population, and a sports day of such magnitude is quite an enormous undertaking by the committee in charge. The day was carried on in such a way that each and every one could witness what pleased them the most, whether it be ball games, races, midway, machinery, etc.

Sample forms have been received and the plan is to enlist members in the group on a contract under which each family would pay a fixed fee of $12 per year into the society, which would pay straight hospitalization fees for the family, regardless of its size.

An organization for the new insurance group was formed with E. S. Brett as president, and W. H. Schuchholz, J. N. Gray, W. G. Shes and Dr. A. C. Greenaway as a committee.

Lumberman Pointed To New Warfare Of Skies When Student In 1908

A remarkable prediction of the trend of present day warfare, made 32 years ago, is contained in an article by Herbert Hancock, 13219 115 street, well known lumberman. The article was written in 1908 when he was a high school student in Nepean, Manitoba, for his school paper, "The Oracle."

Mr. Hancock is now a partner in the Hancock-Jones Lumber Company, Ltd., in Edmonton. The high school paper clipping recently was found by an old friend of Mr. Hancock's father in Manitoba and was shown to his brother William, now a lawyer at Russell, Manitoba.

It was re-printed in the Russell Banner, and is reproduced here.

THE WARFARE OF THE FUTURE

"The battles of the future will be decided not on land or sea but in the air, and the nation having the strongest and best equipped aerial fleet will be the most invulnerable to attacks from enemies. There is no doubt that aerial fleets will be the common defence in years to come. Army and navy experts and scientists are working hard to produce a ship that shall be the most nearly invulnerable."

"General Baden-Powell recently tried to arouse the British nation to a sense of the importance of the subject, when he said that England should not be satisfied with what she had, and he added, 'There are new elements in the realm of war, of which we must soon take serious account. In a very few years we shall see these machines of the air under perfect control, and in practical and effective operation. That every country will obtain them, and the navy will be virtually useless as a first line of defence.'"

BRITAIN PULLING UP

"This is a striking prophecy, the significance of which military and naval men are recognizing, and countries are making great strides towards the construction of these new navies. France and Germany are well advanced in their work, while Great Britain, though behind these two countries, is pulling up swiftly and is undertaking numerous experiments to find out the best plan for her airship."

"Italy and Spain have awakened to the situation, and experiments are being conducted in both countries to produce the best results. Japan has not commenced operations yet, but is closely watching the others to obtain a good model. 'America, until lately, had not regarded the question as worth troubling about, but the action of the other powers has startled her and she is beginning operations. Already her one airship has been constructed, capable of going from 30 to 45 miles an hour and is so constructed that it will remain poised in mid-air or slowly return to earth with the machinery stopped.'"

SHOOTING AT BALLOONS

"Germany has been practicing shooting at captive balloons and has found it very difficult to hit them and it will be harder when the airships are free and moving about. In real warfare a balloon might sweep down and do its work of destruction and get away again before the guns of the enemy could be trained on it, or perhaps it could hover directly over the enemy and make it an impossibility to fire on it at all. One balloon constructed is also a wireless telegraph station and it could sweep down to learn what it wished to, and report to headquarters, and even if it were destroyed it would have done its work. Therefore one would think that some parts of the fleet might be based on the model."

Magistrate Takes Stand As Witness In Perjury Case

Making his first appearance on the bench since his recent appointment as Justice of the Peace, Magistrate C. R. B. Logan appeared for the first time in his new capacity at the preliminary hearing of a perjury case against C. R. B. Logan. An unusual coincidence was the fact that Magistrate Logan appeared as a witness in the case, the charge being that he had sworn to a declaration made before him by the accused, Logan, in connection with obtaining a bail bond. Logan was retained for trial and released on a bill of his own recognizance of $100. O. C. Boness defended and H. T. Logan appeared for the crown.

Lower view shows an inserting and mailing machine, capable of inserting four different pieces of mail and sealing envelopes at the rate of 3,500 an hour. Standing at the left is L. A. Williams, designer and producer of the machine. The Edmonton branch of the Alberta War Savings Committee reports excellent response to the Dominion government's appeal for war savings certificates and stamps. SEDITION COUNT DISMISSED HERE; NO PERSECUTION

Stating he felt the case was one in which there "might be serious danger of persecution," Magistrate Millar Friday dismissed the charge of uttering seditious statements against William Bruno, Edmonton trucker.

Charges against Bruno arose from conversations alleged to have been between Bruno and two young men who were engaged in a local shale pit. Bruno claimed that witnesses had falsely charged him with making seditious statements because of a dispute over digging of the shale.

F. M. Dunne who defended Bruno, in asking for a dismissal, said he was quite aware of the seriousness of seditious statements and also of the fact that the country has arrived at a stage in the prosecution of Canada Regulations where ordinary conversations can be quite dangerous. Yet, he submitted that the evidence against Bruno was not intended to be made an instrument of prejudice and persecution.

E. H. Logan appeared for the crown.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRID

In the diet of small babies, there are persistently found a number of foods whose preparation puzzles the mother. Terms which fall glibly from the lips of dietitians may mean something quite different to her.

For instance, take the commonplace suggestion to give the baby tomato juice, or codlified eggs, or scraped meat or sifted fruit. What do all these actually mean and how are they prepared?

TOMATO JUICE

Tomato juice does not mean the highly-flavored, rather thick tomato juice which adults enjoy. It means the thin, watery, somewhat tasteless juice which can be expressed from a nicely-ripened tomato or which one can pour from a can of tomatoes. No pulp is added. Also, and incidentally, tomato juice isn't absolutely necessary. It contains a high percentage of vitamin C and is given to the baby in place of the more usual orange juice. Twice as much tomato juice as orange juice, thus, the baby gets two ounces of orange juice a day give four ounces of this thin tomato juice.

Codlified eggs are cooked without benefit of heat. They are placed in a deep pan of boiling water, the pan is covered and the eggs allowed to cook for about six to seven minutes dependent upon their size. They are jelly-like in texture when done.

Scraped meat does not belie its name. It is the soft, tender, pulpy mass which can be scraped with a knife or spoon, from any tender cut of beef or lamb. This little part of the meat will be minced, put in a gristle or tendon and is fit for the baby. It may be patted into a small ball and then cooked in water in the top of the double boiler, without fat of any kind.

Sifted vegetables or fruits are just cooked vegetables or fruits through a fine sieve. In this form they are easier to digest since all tough cellulose (which is indigestible) is sieved out.

Our leaflet on "Foods for Young Children" offers a number of recipes of foods suitable to the diet of children the first few years. It may be obtained by any parent interested who will send a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department in care of this newspaper.

Myrtle Meyer Eldred will answer your questions about diet, general care and maintenance of children if you will send a three-cent stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Funds To Aid Children Now Are Requested

MONTREAL, July 6.—Officials of the Montreal branch of the Canadian National Committee on Refugee used an appeal Friday for contributions to its fund to supply clothing, books, toys and games for refugee children. They said material donations of clothes and toys would also be appreciated.

A committee executive member said groups would give assistance by making up clothing for children between the ages of five and 16 years, including coats, hats, shoes, and pajamas, and supplying stationery, stamps and pens to encourage children to write to their parents abroad.

Britons Must Get Along With Fewer Luxuries In Food

MANCHESTER, England, July 6.—Lord Woolton, minister of food, warned Britons yesterday that they will have to get along with fewer luxuries and simpler food. He said a price conference that he held in the afternoon will be a "harder life gastronomically" will be necessary. It is due to the elimination of non-essentials, not because of a shortage.

Lord Woolton asked farmers to grow all the potatoes they can and urged the public to use less sugar.

On Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the City Temple of Spiritualism, Mr. Stoker will be in the audience. Next Friday at 8 p.m. open circle will be held.

Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

Musicians and music teachers have commenced dispersing for the summer, going away for a few days, or to centres where special courses are being given. Likewise students are resting, waiting for their labors and are preparing to take extra work for a while at least in the two months' interval before commencing a new season. Some of the professional musicians have accepted positions with the summer resorts and dance halls. At Josselyn Park, Leduc there is a very excellent orchestra of 15 Edmonton musicians. Some of the best of the first occasion for several years that Edmonton men have been given this assignment and reports coming back from the resorts are that the orchestra under the direction of Cecil Cameron, musical director of the Edmonton orchestra, is a similar capacity hit with the Jasper Lodge visitors. The boys play each evening for dinner and a similar capacity interval, play for dancing. They switch from concert to dance music with the greatest ease.

John Bowman, well known Edmonton singer, is in charge of the orchestra at Harrison Hot Springs, B.C., where he has been singing for the last season. Several other city musicians are engaged in outside work for the summer.

Mrs. James B. Carmichael, general manager of the Edmonton Civic Opera Society has received word from Mrs. Dorothy Blackwell, general manager of New York, who will come here next fall to sing the title role in the production of "The Merry Widow" studying with Mme. E. Gauthier, famous teacher and pupil of the famous Metropolitan Opera. She is also coaching with the Metropolitan Opera Association. Mrs. Gardner states she is preparing to sing in a concert, the proceeds of which will go to the Red Cross.

From Chicago, Mrs. Carmichael has received word of the arrival of a new singer, seeking to scale the heights, namely, Noreen Brislown, member of the Chicago Civic Opera, winner of the $300 scholarship awarded by it this year. Miss Brislown is a member of the chorus of the Chicago Civic Opera, commencing its season next September. She has been selected for inclusion in a film, "The Life of Verdi." In this picture she is singing numbers from "Il Trovatore" and "Otello."

C. Ernest Lake, assistant manager of the Edmonton branch of the Heintzman and Co. Ltd., has relinquished his post and has enlisted in the Canadian Active Service Corps. He has joined the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals and has been awarded the rank of Warrant Officer, Grade 3. Already he has left for camp. Mr. Lake is the third member of the Heintzman and Co. staff to join up. Soon after war broke out, Capt. J. T. Foran, who was officer commanding "B" Troop Cavalry Signals and was in charge of the Edmonton branch of the Heintzman and Co. Ltd., was called to the colors and he is now serving as District Signal Officer for the Western District No. 15. Later John Rose of the sales force, was called for service as a pilot in the Royal Canadian Air Force and is now at camp. At least two other members of the staff are liable to call at any moment, one with signals and the other with the medical branch of the army.

Two great composers are being honored this year—Tchaikovsky on account of this being the one hundredth anniversary of his birth and Paganini because this year marks the hundredth anniversary of his death. The former, a composer, died in 1893 and the latter, a violinist, died 100 years ago and with his death was killed the magic fingers and personality of a man who made his most outstanding figure in all violin history. But, though he has been dead for a century, he still lives, vividly and colorfully as a composer. He is remembered by his caprices are frequently featured in concert programs today and at one of its last concerts of the season, the New Symphony Orchestra played a special arrangement of Campanella.

Paganini, who revolutionized violin playing, was one of the greatest violinists of all time, not only in the annals of music, but in the annals of the entire human race. With his fiddle, he travelled all over Europe and at every place he appeared he had a spell over his audience.

This wonderful bit of publicity resulted in 20 sold-out houses for the great virtuoso at treble regular prices and doubtless this story was as great an attraction as his playing. Paganini's audiences were expecting to see the Devil standing behind him. Always a good publicity man, Paganini, when asked about the story, replied, "Since my admirers have given such an exact description of the Devil's appearance, I can only conclude that he must have actually seen him."

Another story told of him and one that gained him much fame, was that his mother, whom he adored, on her death bed, with her last breath had breathed her soul into his violin and that it was this that enabled him to play with heart-felt pathos. It is a well-established fact that he moved his listeners to tears and to frenzied outbursts of enthusiasm. Not only the general public came under his spell, but even geniuses, Schubert, Schumann, Mendelssohn, Meyerbeer, Berlioz and Liszt, lay under the spell of his playing.

So powerful was his influence over audiences, that many believed he was in league with the Devil. After hearing Paganini in Vienna, one spectator wrote, "While Paganini was playing his 'Witches Dance' last night I distinctly saw Satan himself standing behind him guiding his left hand and his right arm. The great violinist's striking resemblance to the apparition proves that he is a scion of the Devil. His satanic majesty was clothed all in red, he had horns upon his head and a long hairy tail between his legs."

FARMERS SEE VICTORY SIGN IN OAT LEAVES

GANANQUE, Ont., July 6.—Farmers of the Gananque district are seeing signs of an early British victory. "B" is clearly visible in oat leaves this summer for the first time since 1918. They are confident the coincidence has a meaning.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"GOD" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at all Christian Science Churches on Sunday. The Golden Text is Revelation 7:12. One of the Scriptural questions is: "He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart, who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully. He shall receive the blessing from the Lord, and shall not be cut off." (Psalm 24:4, 5). One of the correlative passages from the Bible is: "The word of the Lord shall be with thee, and thou shalt be blessed." (Psalm 119:105). By Mary Baker Eddy, "The Divine Being must be reflected by the human mind, not the image and likeness of the patient, tender, and true. The One 'altogether lovely,' but understand God is the work of eternity and demands abject concentration of thought, energy, and desire." (p. 3).

'Varscona', City's New Neighborhood Theatre, Opens Doors Today

Mayor Takes Part In Official Opening South Side Theatre

Edmonton's newest and most modern 'neighborhood' theatre, the Varscona, located on the corner of 109 street and Whyte avenue, will be formally opened by Mayor John W. Fry at a ceremonial performance Saturday evening. The official opening is timed for 9:30 p.m., but first evening showing at the new theatre will take place at 7:00 p.m., with doors opening for the evening performance at 6:30 o'clock.

Announces Opening

I. F. SHACKER, president of the theatre chain operating the new Varscona theatre, who announces the opening of the South Side movie house Saturday night.

KITE FLYING IS BANNED AS WAR MEASURE

LONDON, July 6.—Kite and balloon flying was banned by the government last night because fifth column elements are believed to have used such devices for spying during the German campaign of the Netherlands.

Crops Damaged

Hussey's AIN, Alta., July 6.—Crops and gardens were damaged, some smashed and buildings blown down last night by a terrific wind, hail and rain storm which swept over this southwestern Manitoba farming district.

A splendid double feature bill has been arranged by Ralph Shacker, manager of the new theatre, for the opening, and children's matinee will be staged commencing at 2:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon. Gifts of ice cream "dixies" will be given to all children attending the matinee opening.

Designed in streamlined style by Rule, Wynn and Rule, Edmonton architects, the new theatre, which is of completely fireproof construction, with modern air-conditioning plant, is a striking landmark in the neighborhood.

Striking appearance and vertical pillars, its subtle cornice, curved walls and stately marquee present a striking appearance and commands instant attention to the building's beauty of line and form.

These pillars and pillars contribute to the interest of the building through the light and shade effects they carry. The structure is finished in a gleaming white with a black trim, while the windows and doors are finished in an Indian red and black trim.

In the design and construction of the theatre, we were primarily interested in the comfort and convenience of the public," stated I. F. Shacker, president of the theatre chain company.

"That is why we insisted on fireproof construction. Before proceeding with construction we interviewed city fire and safety officials to learn how we could best make the building safe.

Their suggestions were followed and the building has been passed by both building and fire inspectors," he stated.

"When it came to the question of showing the type of seats to be used in the theatre to be placed in the theatre we were again governed by this desire to insure that patrons would be comfortable.

"By putting only 500 seats in the house we were able to give patrons three to four inches more leg-room

Here Is Edmonton's Newest Neighborhood Theatre

Here is the latest addition to Edmonton's theatre business. It is the Varscona neighborhood theatre located on the southwest corner of 109 street and Whyte avenue. Its gleaming white pillars and attractive streamline appearance add a striking landmark to the district. Official opening of the new theatre will take place on Saturday evening with Mayor John W. Fry officiating. The official opening is timed for 9:30 p.m. The building was designed by the firm of Rule, Wynn and Rule, Edmonton architects. The new theatre will be managed by Ralph Shacker.

COL. RALSTON NEW MINISTER FOR DEFENCE

Successor As Minister Of Finance To Be Named On Monday

OTTAWA, July 6.—Hon. J. E. Ralston was sworn in as minister of national defence last night and his successor as minister of finance will be named Monday.

At that time Prime Minister Mackenzie King will make a statement about further changes in the cabinet.

Last night's ceremony took place at Government House after the debate on the main budget motion ended in the House of Commons. It was the first swearing-in at which the Earl of Athlone, new Governor-General of Canada, officiated.

ENTIRE TIME NEEDED—The prime minister and A. D. P. House, most of the government were present at the swearing-in.

After the prime minister said the whole attention of the national defence department, where he succeeds the late Hon. Norman Rogers.

"The minister (Col. Ralston) will be in the cabinet as minister of national defence," said Mr. King, "and on Monday I will announce who his successor is to be and make such other statements as to cabinet matters as may be appropriate."

When Mr. King first announced Col. Ralston would be moved to the defence department he indicated he would make a number of other cabinet appointments at the same time.

Earlier this week, however, he said these appointments might not be made for some time and his statement on Monday will probably indicate when such positions as those of postmaster general, minister of transport and minister of national defence are expected to be filled.

At present the postmaster general, Hon. C. G. Dwyer, also is minister and Hon. C. D. Howe, transport minister, holds the portfolio of munitions and supply.

Hon. J. H. Hays, revenue minister, has been looked on as a likely successor to Col. Ralston as finance minister and there has been talk that Air Minister Power would also take over a new portfolio of home defence, some consider possibly succeeding him in the air ministry.

ITALIAN BASES IN AFRICA RAIDED BY R.A.F. PLANES

CAIRO, July 6.—The Royal Air Force reported today that its bombers made successful raids yesterday on Italian bases at El Ghat, Libya, and at El Ghat, Tunisia.

All British planes returned safely. The communiqué said the raid at El Ghat, Tunisia, resulted in loss of petrol stores and in damage to hangars, aircraft and barracks.

Gibraltar Has Air Raid Alarm

British United Press Wire, Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

GIBRALTAR, July 6.—Air raid alarm sounded today for the second successive day and anti-aircraft guns fired again in the afternoon.

The anti-aircraft signal was sounded on Monday, and there were no casualties and no damage and the population had been calm, was noted yesterday by an unidentified person who was driven off by anti-aircraft fire.

Army Officers Show Bravery On Sunken Ship

LONDON, July 6.—Army officers in charge of the military guard on the sunken Italian ship, the U-boat, showed up on the bridge—as it was were waiting for a bus," one survivor said—and went down with the ship.

This was the story told by survivors arriving in London last night as they described the tragic scenes aboard the ship, sunk by a U-boat with loss of almost 1,000 lives while taking German and Italian internees to Canada.

They said the officers joined the soldiers and stood stiffly there while the ship sank.

Offsetting the hysteria and cowardice shown by some of the allies aboard was the behavior of one German prisoner who died from a heart attack last night.
